Conflicts of Interest Policy - JSC Deutsche Bank DBU

1. Scope

The Conflict of interest Policy - JSC Deutsche Bank DBU (hereafter – the Policy) sets out the JSC Deutsche Bank DBU's (hereafter – the Bank) arrangements in connection with the identification, documentation, escalation and management of Conflicts of Interest.

The Policy is developed based on the Regulation on Organization of a Risk Management System in Ukrainian Banks and Banking Groups (approved by the Resolution of the National Bank of Ukraine No. 64 dated 11 June 2018) and in accordance with the Methodological Recommendations on the Organization of Corporate Governance in Banks of Ukraine (approved by the Resolution of the National Bank of Ukraine No. № 814-рш dated 03.12.2018 and is based on the Conflict of Interest Policy – Deutsche bank Group.

Employees of the Bank have to follow the requirements of this Policy as well as Conflict of Interest Policy – Deutsche bank Group.

This policy applies to all Employees. It also applies to Contingent Workers. Managers of Units that engage Contingent Workers must familiarise themselves with the requirements in this policy and must exercise their supervisory duties accordingly.

Capitalised terms have the meaning ascribed to them in section Glossary.

2. What are Conflicts of Interest

A “Conflict of Interest” is a situation where one or more persons or entities have competing interests and the serving of one interest may involve detriment to another. This policy applies to the extent that a Conflict of Interest gives rise to the risk of one or more of the following:

1. the Bank and/or an Employee failing to comply with legal or regulatory obligations;
2. the Bank and/or an Employee failing to fulfil a duty of care, trust or loyalty owed to another person or entity such as a Client;
3. an Employee's professional judgement and objectivity being compromised and/or hindering the proper discharge of their duties and responsibilities;
4. an Employee engaging in unethical conduct; and/or
5. the Bank obtaining improper advantage or treatment or giving rise to the appearance of impropriety and reputational damage, including as it relates to the manner in which business is awarded to or by the Bank.

A Conflict of Interest under this policy includes both an actual Conflict of Interest (i.e. a Conflict of Interest that has arisen) and a potential Conflict of Interest (i.e. a Conflict of Interest that may arise given particular facts and circumstances). It also includes a perceived Conflict of Interest (i.e. a situation which may give rise to the perception of a Conflict of Interest), even where a Conflict of Interest may not in fact exist.

Certain Conflicts of Interest are persistent and need to be managed on an ongoing basis, while others may arise in relation to a single event (e.g. a transaction) and can usually be managed by one-off measures.

Failure to identify and appropriately manage Conflicts of Interest could result in inappropriate or range of adverse consequences for Clients, the Bank and Employees such as reputational damage, damage to client relationships and loss of client business, regulatory sanctions, and risk of litigation. To assist in the identification of Conflicts of Interest, Annex 1 includes non-exhaustive lists of (i) relationships where Conflicts of Interest may arise and (ii) Conflicts of Interest scenarios, as well as (iii) a sample of specific examples of circumstances in which these Conflicts of Interest arise.

Some practical aspects of identifying conflicts of interest are outlined in Annex 5 to this Policy.

3. Approaches to Conflicts Management

The Bank seeks to ensure that a Conflict of Interest does not adversely affect the interests of Clients, the Bank, its shareholders or other stakeholders through the identification, prevention or management of the Conflict of Interest.

Some Conflicts of Interest are not permitted as a matter of law or regulation and others are permitted so long as the Bank has appropriate means by which to manage them. The Bank may utilise a number of means (which may be used individually or in combination) to manage a Conflict of Interest including:

1. organisational arrangements which are described in Annex 2;
2. policies, procedures, systems and controls which are described in Annex 3;
3. disclosure designed to inform the affected parties of the Conflict of Interest and its likely impact on them which is described in Annex 3; or
4. avoidance of the service, activity or matter giving rise to the Conflict of Interest where the Conflict of Interest cannot be prevented or managed effectively using other means.

4. Employee Responsibilities

As part of the Bank's approach to conflicts management, Employees must fulfil the responsibilities outlined below when performing their roles at the Bank.

6. has a financial or other incentive to favour the sale of a particular product or service to a Client which is not in the best interest of the Client.

2.2. Bank-related conflicts

Conflicts of Interest relating to the Bank can be broadly described as scenarios where:

1. an Employee's interest in the outcome of a particular activity or endeavour differs from the Bank's interest;

Conflicts of Interest relating to the Bank also include Conflicts between Board members or Committee members in particular where there are Close Personal Relationship between Board Members or Committee members that have an impact on the decision-making process.

3. Specific examples of Conflicts of Interest (non-exhaustive)

The below is a sample, drawn from the Bank's Conflicts of Interest Taxonomy, of specific examples of transactions and activities at the Bank that may give rise to Conflicts of Interest which require appropriate management, mitigation or prevention:

Allocations	A Conflict of Interest may arise between the Bank and a Client if the Bank is involved in allocating a product, service, loans or securities (e.g. loan offering or syndication, investments, trades, IPOs, etc.) because the Bank may be incentivised to allocate or price the transaction in a manner which favours itself or certain investor Clients (in return for example, for promises of reciprocal business), which may result in detriment to the Bank's issuer/seller/borrower Client or other investor Clients.
Benchmarks	A Conflict of Interest may arise between the Bank, Employee, Clients and other market users where (i) a Employee is managing a risk position held by the Bank the value or price of which is determined by a Benchmark (such as LIBOR, WM/Reuters) or a reference price fixing (such as a futures contract settlement/close), and therefore has a financial interest in the level of the Benchmark or fixing rate, because this may lead to the Employee, alone or in collusion with others, to attempt to manipulate the market or influence contributions of submitters for their own or the Bank's benefit and to the detriment of a Client; or (ii) a Unit of the Bank manages Benchmark risk and also acts as a calculation agent or submitter for the Benchmark.
Churning	A Conflict of Interest arises between the Bank (acting as a Portfolio Manager / Asset Manager with discretion over a Client's account), an Employee and a Client if, instead of fulfilling the Client's investment goals, the Employee engages to the detriment of the Client in "churning" by excessive buying and selling of securities in the Client's account, principally to generate commissions for the benefit of the Bank and the Employee.
Cross-Selling Products	A Conflict of Interest arises between the Bank, an Employee and a Client if the Employee engages to the detriment of a Client in cross selling activities or providing multiple service/products to the Client which are not in the best interest of the Client principally to generate higher fees or revenue on behalf of the Bank.
Misuse of Client	A Conflict of Interest may arise between the Bank, an Employee and a Client if the Bank and/or an Employee is in possession of confidential information or inside

confidential or non-public information including Inside Information	information relating to a Client, and the Bank, the Employee and/or another Client of the Bank has an interest in the use of that information that is divergent from, and may be detrimental to, the interests of any other Client or other party to whom the Bank owes an obligation.
Family / Close Personal Relationship	A Conflict of Interest may arise between the Bank, an Employee, a Client or a Vendor if an Employee deals with individuals who are Family Members or Close Personal Relationships in the course of conducting business for, or on behalf of, the Bank because the dealings may compromise or otherwise call into question the Employee's judgement, ability to act objectively or properly discharge their duties and responsibilities owed to the Bank and/or Clients, or otherwise give rise to the risk of reputational damage to the Bank, including the risk of, or appearance of, impropriety how business is awarded to or by the Bank or the Bank having obtained an improper advantage or treatment.
Inducements	A conflict of interest may arise between the Bank, an Employee, a Client and/or a third party if the Bank and/or Employees give or receive fees, commissions or other monetary and non-monetary benefits that may inappropriately influence the behaviour of the Bank, Employees, the Client and/or the Client's employees in a way that creates a disadvantage for the Bank or its Client.
Opposing side pitches & transactions	A Conflict of Interest arises between the Bank and Clients if the Bank is pitching to, or acts for, opposing sides of the same transaction/situation.
Research Independence	A Conflict of Interest arises between the Bank, an Employee, Clients and other market users if the content of a Research report or other public statement does not represent the Research analyst's genuinely held beliefs because they are influenced by the interest of a particular business division of the Bank, the Bank as a whole, a Client, another third party or the Employee concerned.
Use of in-house products	A Conflict of Interest may arise between the Bank, an Employee and a Client if the Employee recommends or advises the Client to purchase products or services developed by the Bank ('In-house products'), including recommending these ahead of products or services developed by third parties, because the impartiality of the Bank's advice or recommendation may be impaired by the desire on the part of the Employee to generate higher revenues for the Bank.
Window dressing (fund related)	A Conflict of Interest arises between the Bank, Employees, Clients and other market participants if the Bank is buying and selling securities on a portfolio immediately at or near the end of the reporting period to create a false appearance at the end of the reporting period, (for example to make the portfolio look more profitable or otherwise healthier than it has been), creating a false and misleading impression to the detriment of Clients or other market participants.

Annex 2: Description of organisational arrangements relating to Conflicts of Interest

1. Internal Governance Arrangements

1.1. Board Governance

The respective terms of reference for the Management Board and the Supervisory Board set out the obligations of these bodies relating to the management of Conflicts of Interest. The Supervisory Board is responsible for decisions with respect to Conflicts of Interest of Supervisory Board members in accordance with applicable law. In addition, minimum governance requirements for the Bank's legal entity boards are set forth in the Board Governance Policy.

1.2. Segregation of Functions and Duties

The Bank structurally segregates its Business Divisions and Infrastructure Functions to allow for their independence. This segregation is reflected in the composition of the Management Board, its terms of reference and the Management Board's Business Allocation Plan. Under the Risk Management Principles, the Bank also operates an internal control environment underpinned by a "Three Lines of Defence" framework that requires the independence of control functions, including Compliance, Risk, and Audit.

Additionally, Business Divisions implement policies and procedures and systems and controls so that one person or Unit does not execute all phases of a transaction, including applying a "four eyes" principle to avoid or mitigate the risk of asset or information loss.

1.3. Committee Governance

Each committee of the Bank is required by the Bank's Committee Governance Policy to have terms of reference in place. These terms must include the requirement for members of committees to consider potential Conflicts of Interest when determining the composition of the committee, taking into account the tasks and responsibilities of that committee. Further, the terms of reference must require committee members to disclose potential Conflicts of Interest on an ongoing basis to the chairperson and for the chairperson to take appropriate action to resolve such Conflicts of Interest.

2. Conflicts of Interest Group-wide Minimum Standards Framework

The COI Framework for the oversight and governance of Conflicts of Interest consists of the four elements set out below.

2.1. Bank Conflicts of Interest Register

The Bank maintains a register that records the types of Conflicts of Interest that have arisen or may arise in the course of the Bank's regulated services and activities or otherwise by virtue of the Bank's structural or business practices.

2.2. Business Selection and Conflicts Office

The Conflicts Office is a global function that is independent of the Bank's Business Divisions and has four primary responsibilities under the COI Framework:

1. oversight of the operation of the Bank's transactional conflict clearing and business selection process, as well as other means of transactional conflict resolution;
2. assisting in the management and resolution of Episodic Conflicts that may arise outside of the conflict clearing process;

3. general oversight of, and annual reporting to the Management Board on, Conflicts of Interest oversight and governance activities conducted by Units; and
4. The creation and maintenance, in conjunction with Compliance, of the Conflicts of Interest Taxonomy.

2.3. Units Conflicts Oversight and Governance

The COI Framework sets out minimum standards for Conflicts of Interest oversight and governance in each Unit, including:

1. the operation of an oversight body;
2. regular reporting to the Unit's executive committee;
3. maintenance of a Conflicts of Interest register, mitigation procedures and controls, and clearly defined escalation processes;
4. conduct of regular risk assessments;
5. provision of training to Employees of the Unit;
6. the establishment of appropriate organisational and supervisory arrangements; and, where applicable,
7. management of disclosure of Conflicts of Interest to Clients.

In addition, Business Divisions are required to undertake product reviews, new product and transactional approvals and assessments of suitability and appropriateness as applicable, all of which are targeted at identifying, escalating and managing Conflicts of Interest.

2.4. Compliance

Compliance, as a 2nd Line of Defence function, is the "Risk Type Controller" for the Conflicts of Interest Risk Type. In this capacity, Compliance is responsible for the development of related policies, the testing of controls implemented by Business Divisions and the regular risk assessment of Conflicts of Interest Risk Type management by the Bank.

Compliance is also responsible for certain aspects of the Bank's overall conflicts management, including processes relating to Employee Trading and Outside Business Interests, as well as those operated by the Compliance Control Room.

Conflicts of Interest Policy - JSC Deutsche Bank DBU

Annex 3: Description of policies, procedures, systems and controls relating to Conflicts of Interest

The Bank employs a number of systems, controls, policies and procedures to manage Conflicts of Interest, including those summarised below.

1. General Policies, Procedures, Systems and Controls

1.1. Information Barriers and the Control Room

In accordance with the Information Barriers Policy - Deutsche Bank Group, the Bank maintains Information Barriers that are designed to restrict information flows between different areas of the Bank. These restrictions enable the Bank and Employee to carry out business on behalf of Clients without being influenced by other information held within the Bank which may give rise to a Conflict of Interest. For the avoidance of doubt, and consistent with the Bank's "Need to Know" policy, where a Employee is required by any other policy or procedure of the Bank to share information with other Employee (including Employee in different group entities or different business lines), the Employee is required to do so in accordance with such policy or procedure provided that such sharing of information does not breach this Conflicts of Interest Policy or any related policies and procedures.

The Bank's Compliance Control Room helps maintain the integrity of these Information Barriers by identifying non-public information through a watch List, monitoring the flow of this information within the Bank and, where necessary, restricting activities based on this information through the Bank's Restricted List. These measures enable the Bank to identify and manage potential Conflicts of Interest arising from sales, trading and Research activities in the period before, during and after investment banking transactions.

1.2. Disclosure and Client Consent

In certain circumstances, the Bank may determine that its arrangements to prevent or manage Conflicts of Interest may not be sufficient to protect a Client's interest from material damage and the Client must be made aware of this. Alternatively, the Bank may decide in particular circumstances that a Client should be made aware of the potential for a Conflict of Interest and the arrangements that will be put place to manage the conflict. Where permissible under legislation and appropriate, disclosure to an affected Client may be made to inform the Client of the arrangements and/or to specifically seek Client consent to act.

1.3. Escalation

The Bank operates internal escalation processes for Conflicts of Interest, with each Unit having the responsibility of defining and documenting their respective processes under the COI Framework. The escalation processes are required to enable the Conflict of Interest to be escalated on a timely basis and considered at an appropriate level of seniority and by the correct stakeholders to arrive at the most appropriate resolution.

1.4. Whistleblowing

The Bank provides appropriate channels through the Raising Concerns (including Whistleblowing) Policy – Deutsche Bank Group for the reporting/whistleblowing of Conflicts of Interest within the Bank where a Employee considers this to be the appropriate channel to draw the matter to the attention of the Bank.

2. Policies, Procedures, Systems and Controls relating to specific activities

2.1. Client Order Handling

A Conflict of Interest may arise where a Employee receives, transmits, executes or otherwise handles a Client order. The Bank has policies in place to manage such Conflicts of Interest and thereby protect Client's interests, requiring Employee to act honestly, fairly and professionally in accordance with the best interests of a Client and prohibiting improper conduct by the Bank's traders, such as front-running Client orders.

2.2. Benchmarks

A Conflict of Interest may arise where the Bank and its Employees engage in Benchmark activities. In accordance with the Benchmark Policy, the Bank maintains procedures to be followed in order to manage these Conflicts of Interest, including inter alia:

1. requirements relating to the remuneration of Employee involved in Benchmark submission;
2. procedures and training to prevent or control information flows involving Employee engaged in Benchmark activities; and
3. a specific escalation and resolution mechanism where material Conflicts of Interest are identified.

2.3. Research Independence

A Conflict of Interest may arise where the content of Research reports or other public statements by a Research analyst do not represent the analyst's genuinely held beliefs because they have been influenced by the interests of a particular Business Division of the Bank. In order to manage such Conflicts of Interest, the Research Independence Policy – Global is designed to promote and safeguard the integrity and independence of Research. No one may place inappropriate pressure on a Research analyst with respect to the content or timing of a Research report or a public statement made by that analyst. The supervisory structure, reporting lines and compensation criteria for Research and Research analysts are designed to maintain the independence of Research from other areas of the Bank.

2.4. Underwriting and Placing

A Conflict of Interest may arise between an issuer Client, investor Clients and the Bank in the context of the Bank's underwriting and placing activities. The Bank has in place policies, procedures and arrangements so that the syndication process, including book-building, allocations and pricing, is conducted in accordance with the issuer Clients' interests. The Bank is prohibited from putting its own interest, or the interest of an investor Client, ahead of the issuer Client, or inappropriately favouring one investor Client over another.

2.5. Inducements

A Conflict of Interest may arise where the payment or receipt of an Inducement would create an incentive for the Bank to act in a way other than in the best interests of its Client. The Bank has established policies, procedures and controls with regard to the payment and receipt of Inducements in order to assess their appropriateness and manage any Conflict of Interest that may arise.

2.6. Remuneration Practices

A Conflict of Interest may arise where the Bank's remuneration practice could incentivise an Employee to act contrary to their responsibilities, regulatory requirements or the Bank's Code of

Conflicts of Interest Policy - JSC Deutsche Bank DBU

Conduct. Under the Compensation and Benefits Policy – Deutsche Bank Group, the Bank has a compensation framework in place to align compensation practices to avoid such an incentive.

2.7. Outside Business Interests

A Conflict of Interest may arise between an Employee's Outside Business Interests and the interests of the Bank and its Clients. The Outside Business Interests Policy - Deutsche Bank Group imposes disclosure and approval requirements, enabling the identification, management and, where necessary, prohibition of Outside Business Interests that may give rise to Conflicts of Interest. An electronic register of Outside Business Interests is maintained by the Bank, reviewed periodically and utilised for conflicts management purposes.

2.8. Employee Trading

A Conflict of Interest may arise between an Employee and the Bank or its Clients by virtue of Employee Trading. The Personal Account Dealing Policy - Deutsche Bank Group requires disclosure and approval for personal trading accounts and pre-clearance for specific trading activity. 2.9. Gifts and Entertainment

A Conflict of Interest may arise where an Employee receives or offers a gift or entertainment that constitutes an inappropriate incentive for an Employee, Third Party Representative, Client or Vendor to act in a certain way. The Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy – Deutsche Bank Group does not permit the offering or acceptance of gifts or entertainment by an Employee unless it is reasonable, proportionate and for a legitimate business purpose. Where applicable, Employees must obtain pre-approval for gifts and entertainment and approval will depend, among other criteria, on whether it may give rise to a Conflict of Interest.

2.10. Vendors and Third Party Representatives

A Conflict of Interest may arise in the Bank's interaction with Vendors and Third Party Representatives where, for example, a Employee involved in the procurement or hiring process has a close relationship with a particular Vendor or Third Party Representative. The Bank has a Procurement Policy - Deutsche Bank Group and operates multiple systems, controls, policies and procedures to manage these interactions, including due diligence requirements, contractual arrangements and an obligation on Employee to disclose matters that might give rise to a Conflict of Interest. In addition, where a Vendor is also an actual or potential Client of the Bank, the Bank seeks to manage these relationships independently and on an arm's length basis under legislation of engagement established between the Bank, Vendors and Clients in order to manage any Conflicts of Interest.
